

Services of Idaho (FDSI) is APPOINTED to represent all defendants unless the defendant has retained counsel.

FDSI will identify defendants with a claim for relief under the amended guidelines and represent such defendants in filing motions for reduced sentences under the amendment. FDSI shall identify any conflicts of interest and notify the Court so new counsel can be appointed. Any defendant who was not previously represented by FDSI or a CJA attorney will need to complete an in forma pauperis application.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the United States Probation Office is AUTHORIZED to disclose relevant information to FDSI, including the identities of defendants it has identified as being affected by the amendment and presentence investigation reports. The Probation Office, FDSI, and the United States Attorney's Office are encouraged to assist the Court in identifying those cases deserving of priority treatment, i.e., those cases where a defendant's release date is near.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that motions in any cases originally assigned to the late Judge Harold L. Ryan or to the late Judge Marion J. Callister and which have not been previously reassigned will be ASSIGNED on a rotating basis to Chief Judge B. Lynn Winmill and Judge Edward J. Lodge.
